HAD GOOD TIME AT SHENANDOAH

MARYVILLE COUNTRY CLUB MEMBERS ROYALLY ENTERTAIN

PICNIC IN THE EVENING

The Southmoreland Country Club of Shenandoah Was Host—30 in the Party from Maryville

Thirty members of the Maryville Country Club were royally entertained at Shenandoah yesterday with the Southmoreland Club of that city as host. A number of members from the club here were prevented from going on account of the rain early Friday morning, only three cars driving through out of several, who were planning to go. There was no rain in the Shenandoah community, the rain not extending beyond the state line.

The delegation going on the train were met at the station at Shenandoah by a reception committee and after breakfast were taken to the Country Club. They have a club building, costing about $7,600. It is nicely arranged with lockers and showers in the basement of the building. After knickers were donned, golf was played the entire morning. A pair of the Maryville players were matched against two of the Shenandoah players in foursomes.

At luncheon, the visitors were entertained at Oviatt's Inn at the fair grounds. After luncheon, the Maryvillians were taken on a sight seeing trip to the dance pavilion and the swimming pool on the fair grounds.

The afternoon games started about 2 o'clock and continued all afternoon. The morning games had been more in the nature of practice games so the visiting golf players could get use to the grass greens and the course. But in the afternoon, the players were matched Sims and Hamilton of the Maryville Club playing the best two players of Shenandoah club. From what the Democrat-Forum heard, most of the Maryville players were outplayed, the boys having a hard time, especially in putting on the grass greens. The Southmoreland Club course contains fifty-five acres. They have nine holes and the entire distance is 3,143 yards, being just 51 yards shorter than the Maryville links. Nearly all of the fairways of the Shenandoah course are north and south and are in fine condition. Their longest hole is 460 yards and their shortest 130 yards. The course is about three years old and the club has 160 members.

While the golf games were in progres, the visiting women were entertained at the club house at a kensington.

The day's entertainment was concluded in the evening with a picnic supper in the grove of the Southmoreland Club. It is an ideal place for a picnic. Every good thing to eat was to be had in an abundance. One of the Maryville golf players had five pieces of cake, another reported he had four pieces of chicken.

After the picnic, George L. Wilfley, president of the Maryville Country Club, on behalf of the visitors thanked the Shenandoah club for their entertainment and the hospitality shown.

Among the Shenandoah members on the reception committee were three former Maryville residents, being E. J. Andrews, H. E. Ralston and Fleming Carpenter.

In the Maryville delegation were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Keck, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lewis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hull, Miss Ella Farrell, Uel W. Lamkin, George L. Wilfley, L. The Kaiser Won't Try to Come Back

Neither Will Ex-Crown Prince Is Opinon of Two German Government Officials.

Berlin, July 28.—"I don't believe there is an iota of truth in the report that the former German Kaiser or the ex-Crown Prince is trying to return to Germany with a view of restoring the throne," it was declared here today by Minister of Defense Geffler. A similar declaration was also made by Herr Severing, minister of the interior of Prussia.

"I don't believe either one of them is so stupid as to make such an attempt," added Geffler. "It would be doomed in advance to a ridiculous fiasco."

Severing said: "The Dutch would not let the two Williams out of Holland nor would Germany let them in."

GUARANTORS START SALE OF TICKETS

DISTRICT CAPTAINS APPOINTED LAST NIGHT.

ASST. MANAGER IS HERE

Charles M. Mayne in Maryville Short Time Today—No Season Tickets Available After August 5.

The house-to-house season ticket sale for the Maryville Chautauqua, which opens here a week from tomorrow, was started this morning following a meeting of the guarantors last night at the Baptist Church when plans were perfected for the sale. Captains were named in each district and the intensive work on the campaign began this morning. The following were the captains named: Harry Todd, Charles Hartness, John Spiekerman, Ed Goforth, J. A. Speirs, D. E. Hotchkin, Herman W. Hull, Mrs. L. E. White, Fred French, F. W. Baker, W. A. White, James Carpenter and Ed Brewer.

Charles M. Mayne, assistant manager of the Redpath-Vawter Chautauqua System, was in Maryville this morning for a short time. Mr. Mayne is very enthusiastic over the program this year and he says that beyond question it is the best array of talent ever assembled on a single chautauqua program. The feature of the opening day will be the May Valentine Singing Party, the same company which gave "Robinhood" in Maryville last winter. W. E. Daly, widely known as a dirt farmer, will speak on "The Farmers' Opportunity." Monday, Congressman L. J. Dickerson will lecture upon, "What of the Farm Bloc?" Other headliners on program are ex-Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, M. Alexander Schwartz, a Russian officer in the Czar's army, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Mayne said this morning that there was a new ruling in regard to the sale of season tickets. The tickets went on sale this morning by the committee at $2.25 for adults and $1.00 for children and will continue until the chautauqua opens. After the Vawter management then takes over the sale of season tickets they will not be available at any price. Persons buying season tickets are being given a button saying, "I have my ticket."

A committee composed of Hal Hooker, H. W. Hull and Alfred Jones was appointed last night to take charge of handling the sale of rural districts and captains will be appointed in each school district of Polk township.

C. C. Collett of the Redpath-Vawter Company, who was scheduled to arrive here today, failed to come. The contemplated luncheon of guarantors for noon today was postponed.

OVER-PRODUCTION CAUSES LOW WHEAT

SAYS F. N. SHEPHERD OF AMERICAN BANKERS ASS'N, HERE

NO GOVERNMENT REMEDY

Economic Laws Must Adjust, He Says —Don't Favor U. S. Buying Wheat or Producer Holding it

As long as there is an over-supply and over-production of wheat the price will remain low and there can be no sound economic legislation to remedy the situation, said Fred N. Shepherd of New York, executive secretary of the American Bankers Association in an interview this morning. Mr. Shepherd arrived in Maryville last night to spend today with his sister, Miss Grace M. Shepherd, director of rural education at the College.

"It is a most unfortunate situation,' said Mr. Shepherd in discussing the present agricultural situation. "I have two ranches and I can plainly see the farmers viewpoint. But there are underlying economic laws that will only adjust the situation. The government now has done about all it can to help the farmer. They have more and better credit facilities than they have ever had."

When asked concerning the remedial plan suggested in some quarters that the government buy all of the surplus wheat now at a stimulated price and store it until the price goes up. Mr. Shepherd said he believed it was economically wrong and would never prove permanently successful. "I don't advocate the government taking the excess supply of wheat, coal, or any other product;" he said. He also expressed the opinion that the suggested plan for the farmers to withhold the wheat from the market until the price became more favorable, would never prove successful.

In speaking of co-operative marketing plans, Mr. Shepherd said that some plans can be worked out successfully.

"For a co-operative marketing plan to be successful the entire production must be consigned to the association," he said. "The plan can be very successful in certain commodities, such as the Sapiro plan of co-operative marketing in California."

When asked concerning the possibility of the growing demand that some middlemen, between producer and consumer be eliminated, Mr. Shepherd said he believed that some steps could be taken for partial elimination, but with the increasing demand of the people for service, it would be impossible. "By co-operative enterprise certain steps could be eliminated so that a saving might accrue to both the producer and consumer," he said.

The American Bankers Association, of which the Maryville banks are members, are doing all they possibly can for the farmers, said Mr. Shepherd. He told of the agriculture commission of the Association, composed of twelve bankers, one representative from each of the Federal Reserve districts, with a Wisconsin banker as chairman. They employ an agricultural director, he said, who spends all of his time with agricultural problems. The primal purpose of the commission is to arouse the local banker to his duty in his community. The present agricultural director is D. H. Otis, formerly assistant dean of the Kansas State Agricultural School, and agricultural director of the Wisconsin Agricultural College. This commission works on such problems as soil fertility, better livestock, better business methods, local marketing, agricultural associations, disease eradication, and the like.

Mr. Shepherd will leave tomorrow for Chicago.

ARE STILL APART ON REPARATIONS

FRANCO-FRENCH DIFFERENCES SEMI-OFFICIALLY DIVULGED

DIFFER ON OCCUPATIONS

France Will Reject British Ruhr Viewpoint and Reparation Attitude—Note Goes to Brussels

London, July 28—A report reached the British government circles today through unofficial channels that the French answer to Great Britain's reparation not rejects the British viewpoint upon the military occupation of the Ruhr, and France disagrees with the British attitude on reparations but asks a number of questions leaving the way open for negotiations.

Foreign office officials said they expected separate answers from Belgium and France to the British note, to arrive either tomorrow or Monday. The Belgiam reply, it is believed, will be more favorable than the French.

In the meantime British industrial and financial interests are demanding action looking towards a settlement of the reparations tangle. It would not be surprising if there is a domestic political crisis within the next week unless there are definite developments.

Paris, July 28.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, has requested France's reply to the British reparation note not later than the first of next week, it was announced at the foreign office today. France sent word that the reply would be sent just as soon as it was examined by the Belgians.

LUMBER FIRMS OUSTED FROM MO.

GUILTY OF PRICE FIXING, SAYS COURT DECISION

19 ST. LOUIS COMPANIES

All Are Restrained from Doing Business in State and Fined from $2,500 to $10,000

St. Louis, July 28—Nineteen of the biggest local lumber concerns, former members of the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange, today were found guilty of violating the state anti-trust law, in a decision rendered by the Supreme Court at Jefferson City.

Charters of seventeen of the concerns were ordered forfeited and companies ousted from the state, while the licenses of the other two concerns incorporated in other states, were forfeited to prevent operation in Missouri. Fines ranging from $2,500 to $10,000 were assessed against the companies.

A dispatch received from the state capital today quotes attorney-general, Jessie W. Barrett, as saying the decision was the most important anti-trust decision in this state in the last fifteen years.

"Then the Missouri Supreme Court led other states in the prohibition of the direct fixing of prices by illegal combinations," the attorney-general continued. "Since that time lawyers, representing large interests, have been seeking some method of fixing prices by indirect methods rather than by direct agreements and in a manner which would evade the anti-trust provisions.

"The open price association was an invention of lawyers like Eddy of Chicago and Boyle of Washington and it was claimed for their plan that it provided methods of "co-operation" rather competition."

The open price association plan has been used throughout the country the attorney-general said.

Golf Pointers

What is the best position of the feet with regard to the lie of a ball when driving? That is, should one stand with the ball opposite the left foot, the right foot, or the center of the body?

Answered by
BOB MacDONALD

Veteran tournament player, winner of the Metropolitan open championship, 1921, and the Texas open championship, 1922. Famous the world over for his long distance driving.

With a correct swing a ball can be hit any place along a two-foot line. The circumference described by the head of a club on a driving swing is a very large one. Consequently the distance from the club head to the ground is almost the same along the two feet of its travel in which the ball may lie. Choose any of the three positions mentioned in the question but be sure and keep the weight equally distributed on both feet.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

What difference is there between the muscles developed by a swimmer and those of other athletes?

Answered by
BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

Other athletes develop a short, snappy set of muscles. Quick starting and stopping requires tense contraction and expansion of muscles like the coiling and releasing of a spring. Swimmers work in a different element and require an easy pull for the liquid solid. They require yielding muscles and develop the long, soft and pliable variety. Their muscles are differently distributed. The thigh muscles in the leg and biceps in the upper arm are most noticeably different, being long and snaky instead of humped.

Taylor County Fair, next week. 5 nights and 5 days.

Fifty Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Nodaway Democrat, July 31, 1873).

About two weeks ago, cattle running on the range east of Maryville, began to die mysteriously. At first it was hardly suspected what the matter was, but experienced cattle men soon pronounced it the dreaded Texas fever. At the present time about 60 deaths have occurred and the disease shows no signs of abatement. Many citizens of the community, thinking some measure should be taken for public defense, called a meeting on Thursday, July 24 and again on Saturday, July 26.

The dry weather, if it continues much longer, will materially injure the corn crop. A good rain, like the minister prayed for, to come down "drizzle, drizzle," would be properly appreciated.

One of our exchagnes wants rain crows imported into Missouri, as a preventative to dry weather.

New wheat is coming in rapidly and Messrs. Charles & Sons, at the Maryville Steam Mill, are turning out as good flour as can be found anywhere. They are doing a general custom business, and in a few days our farmers can bring their wheat to the mill, and exchange it for flour, the same quality that the wheat would make. Wheat is selling from the elevator from $1.12 to $1.45.

The Nodaway County fair commences on the 22nd of September.

Solemn requiem mass for the late Pope Leo was celebrated in the two Catholic churches of this city, Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Bells were tolled at certain hours Sunday, Monday and Tuesday just preceding mass.

Dr. K. C. Cummins, widely known Maryville physician, met with an accident Friday evening at his home, which will lay him up for some time. Dr. Cummins had driven home from seeing a patient, had put his horses in the stable, and went up into the hay mow and put down a quantity of hay for them. After throwing down the hay, he pitched the fork down and then jumped down. The upturned fork came into contact with his thigh and a prong passed through the clothing and entered the flesh. He sank to the floor of the barn and Arthur Andrews and John Kinsley, who chanced to be passing, heard his calls for help and at once went to his assistance. Dr. Nash, who was summoned, removed the fork prong and then had Dr. Cummins removed to his house.

THE JOY OF THE DAY

I am glad today though I know not why—
Glad as ever can be!
With never a shadow to cross my path,
Just happy and glad and free!

The sun is abroad, not even a cloud
To float across the sky.
I am glad I am here and I want to live,
But I could not tell you why.

Tomorrow may come in purple hue,
I may even be sick and sad,
But that cannot mar my pleasure now—
Thank God that today I am glad!

TO REPRODUCE SNAKE DANCE

Arizona Citizens Will Stage Elaborate Ceremonial Originating With the Hopi Indians.

For two years citizens of Prescott, Ariz., have reproduced the rain ceremonial of the Hopi Indians, the snake dance, by means of which this desert tribe indicates its compliance with the commands of its principal deity. The third reproduction of the snake dance by white men, students of the Indian ritual and long practiced in the art of its steps and chants, will take place in June. A reproduction of a Hopi village will be constructed of light material, but without a detail lacking, even to the sun-curing meat hanging from walls. "With such a background, the white men perform a dance they hope to preserve from the altering hand of time," says a writer in Popular Mechanics magazine.

It is desired to add to and expand this Indian pageantry so that by 1926, when the rest of America is rehearsing the landing of the Pilgrims, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the founding of New Amsterdam by the Hollanders 300 years ago, there will be in the Southwest a pageant going back still farther. It may deal with the Indian account of the creation—something oddly like our own biblical one. It will seek to probe the history, buried in legends, fireside tales, myths, religious rites and tribal traditions that hold the key to the earliest inhabitants of the southern Rocky mountains.

FUNERAL SPLENDOR IN VENICE

Wealthy Dead Carried Through the Canals of the City in Style That Is Picturesque.

A Venetian funeral displays that picturesque and romantic character which has always been associated with the ceremonies of the city, which still remains one of the most religious places in Italy, says Wide World Magazine. The grandeur of the special funeral barge varies, of course, with the means of the family, those hired by the wealthy being very magnificent. Such a barge is 50 feet in length and propelled by four gondoliers in uniforms of black velvet. From end to end it is lavishly decorated with gilded mouldings of floral design, skulls and crossbones, and so on. At the bow is an angel with outstretched wings, leaning on a broken pillar, and at the stern is another gilded figure of Time with his scythe and hour-glass. The canopy in the center, covering the coffin, is supported by gilded angels, and at the corners of the roof burn four candles.

The body is conveyed to the cemetery island, the only burial ground of the city.

Almost Fatal Addition to Bread.

Eating a piece of buttered bread, which he had dropped into the yard of his home, nearly proved fatal for a three-year-old boy of Bolton, Conn. The child began bleeding at the mouth and throat and besides almost choking to death became violently ill. Investigation showed the bread had dropped butter-side down on a pile of finely broken glass and one of the larger pieces had severed a blood vessel in the throat.

Gold in Stomach of Goose.

The goose that a Tarentorus (Ont.) farmer killed the other day was not exactly the goose that laid the golden egg, but, for all that, it was what might be called gold-bearing. When the bird was being dressed for the table, inspection revealed two pieces of a hard yellow substance. The farmer took the two samples to two local jewelers, both of whom said they were gold.

Record Barrel Built.

The world's record barrel, even larger than the historic "Heidelberger Fass," which contained 550,000 gallons, has just been turned out in Lahr, near Baden Baden, Germany. It will hold 625,000 gallons, but, unlike the other, will be used for chemicals, not wine.

Not "Spirit Rappings."

Mysterious tappings in the vicinity of a foot-bridge at Cranleigh (Eng.) railway station aroused suspicion. Officials kept watch, and discovered the noise was caused by a chaffinch. The bird alights on a lamp-post and pecks at its reflection in the glass.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

MORE THAN 5,000 ATTEND MAITLAND FAIR LAST DAY.

(St. Joseph Gazette).

Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons attended the Maitland fair the final day, Friday, Ku Klux Klan day. An official of the klan, robed and anonymous, addressed the crowds in the afternoon. There were no races, but Foghorn Clancy's rodeo performance was repeated as on previous days. In the evening the klan held an initiation and there was a big free barbecue dinner.

The fair this year proved a great success, both financially and in the number of persons who saw the exhibits of the products of the Maitland district. C. L. Bohart is president of the fair association and Ray DeBord secretary.

Golf Pointers

What is the best position of the feet with regard to the lie of a ball when driving? That is, should one stand with the ball opposite the left foot, the right foot, or the center of the body?

Answered by
BOB MacDONALD

Veteran tournament player, winner of the Metropolitan open championship, 1921, and the Texas open championship, 1922. Famous the world over for his long distance driving.

With a correct swing a ball can be hit any place along a two-foot line. The circumference described by the head of a club on a driving swing is a very large one. Consequently the distance from the club head to the ground is almost the same along the two feet of its travel in which the ball may lie. Choose any of the three positions mentioned in the question but be sure and keep the weight equally distributed on both feet.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

What difference is there between the muscles developed by a swimmer and those of other athletes?

Answered by
BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

Other athletes develop a short, snappy set of muscles. Quick starting and stopping requires tense contraction and expansion of muscles like the coiling and releasing of a spring. Swimmers work in a different element and require an easy pull for the liquid solid. They require yielding muscles and develop the long, soft and pliable variety. Their muscles are differently distributed. The thigh muscles in the leg and biceps in the upper arm are most noticeably different, being long and snaky instead of humped.

Taylor County Fair, next week. 5 nights and 5 days.

Fifty Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Nodaway Democrat, July 31, 1873).

About two weeks ago, cattle running on the range east of Maryville, began to die mysteriously. At first it was hardly suspected what the matter was, but experienced cattle men soon pronounced it the dreaded Texas fever. At the present time about 60 deaths have occurred and the disease shows no signs of abatement. Many citizens of the community, thinking some measure should be taken for public defense, called a meeting on Thursday, July 24 and again on Saturday, July 26.

The dry weather, if it continues much longer, will materially injure the corn crop. A good rain, like the minister prayed for, to come down "drizzle, drizzle," would be properly appreciated.

One of our exchagnes wants rain crows imported into Missouri, as a preventative to dry weather.

New wheat is coming in rapidly and Messrs, Charles & Sons, at the Maryville Steam Mill, are turning out as good flour as can be found anywhere. They are doing a general custom business, and in a few days our farmers can bring their wheat to the mill, and exchange it for flour, the same quality that the wheat would make. Wheat is selling from the elevator from $1.12 to $1.45.

The Nodaway County fair commences on the 22nd of September.

Solemn requiem mass for the late Pope Leo was celebrated in the two Catholic churches of this city, Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Bells were tolled at certain hours Sunday, Monday and Tuesday just preceding mass.

Dr. K. C. Cummins, widely known Maryville physician, met with an accident Friday evening at his home, which will lay him up for some time. Dr. Cummins had driven home from seeing a patient, had put his horses in the stable, and went up into the hay mow and put down a quantity of hay for them. After throwing down the hay, he pitched the fork down and then jumped down. The upturned fork came into contact with his thigh and a prong passed through the clothing and entered the flesh. He sank to the floor of the barn and Arthur Andrews and John Kinsley, who chanced to be passing, heard his calls for help and at once went to his assistance. Dr. Nash, who was summoned, removed the fork prong and then had Dr. Cummins removed to his house.

THE JOY OF THE DAY

I am glad today though I know not why—
Glad as ever can be!
With never a shadow to cross my path,
Just happy and glad and free!

The sun is abroad, not even a cloud
To float across the sky.
I am glad I am here and I want to live,
But I could not tell you why.

Tomorrow may come in purple hue,
I may even be sick and sad,
But that cannot mar my pleasure now—
Thank God that today I am glad!

TO REPRODUCE SNAKE DANCE

Arizona Citizens Will Stage Elaborate Ceremonial Originating With the Hopi Indians.

For two years citizens of Prescott, Ariz., have reproduced the rain ceremonial of the Hopi Indians, the snake dance, by means of which this desert tribe indicates its compliance with the commands of its principal deity. The third reproduction of the snake dance by white men, students of the Indian ritual and long practiced in the art of its steps and chants, will take place in June. A reproduction of a Hopi village will be constructed of light material, but without a detail lacking, even to the sun-curing meat hanging from walls. "With such a background, the white men perform a dance they hope to preserve from the altering hand of time," says a writer in Popular Mechanics magazine.

It is desired to add to and expand this Indian pageantry so that by 1926, when the rest of America is rehearsing the landing of the Pilgrims, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the founding of New Amsterdam by the Hollanders 300 years ago, there will be in the Southwest a pageant going back still farther. It may deal with the Indian account of the creation—something oddly like our own biblical one. It will seek to probe the history, buried in legends, fireside tales, myths, religious rites and tribal traditions that hold the key to the earliest inhabitants of the southern Rocky mountains.

FUNERAL SPLENDOR IN VENICE

Wealthy Dead Carried Through the Canals of the City in Style That Is Picturesque.

A Venetian funeral displays that picturesque and romantic character which has always been associated with the ceremonies of the city, which still remains one of the most religious places in Italy, says Wide World Magazine. The grandeur of the special funeral barge varies, of course, with the means of the family, those hired by the wealthy being very magnificent. Such a barge is 50 feet in length and propelled by four gondoliers in uniforms of black velvet. From end to end it is lavishly decorated with gilded mouldings of floral design, skulls and crossbones, and so on. At the bow is an angel with outstretched wings, leaning on a broken pillar, and at the stern is another gilded figure of Time with his scythe and hour-glass. The canopy in the center, covering the coffin, is supported by gilded angels, and at the corners of the roof burn four candles.

The body is conveyed to the cemetery island, the only burial ground of the city.

Almost Fatal Addition to Bread.

Eating a piece of buttered bread, which he had dropped into the yard of his home, nearly proved fatal for a three-year-old boy of Bolton, Conn. The child began bleeding at the mouth and throat and besides almost choking to death became violently ill. Investigation showed the bread had dropped butter-side down on a pile of finely broken glass and one of the larger pieces had severed a blood vessel in the throat.

Gold In Stomach of Goose.

The goose that a Tarentorus (Ont.) farmer killed the other day was not exactly the goose that laid the golden egg, but, for all that, it was what might be called gold-bearing. When the bird was being dressed for the table, inspection revealed two pieces of a hard yellow substance. The farmer took the two samples to two local jewelers, both of whom said they were gold.

Rev. W. F. Wiley pastor of the Elmo M. E. Church, and his family are away on a vacation to last two weeks. They started Monday for St. Louis and expected to be about three days on the road. Mr. Wiley has a daughter living at St. Louis.

The center of attraction at Elmo is the "municipal" croquet grounds managed by Charles Abbott. The grounds have been put in good condition and a 100 watt electric light has been installed. The place is so popular that it has drawn custom away from Jack Vansickle's grounds, and other places as well, and rumor says Mr. Vansickle will try "setting up" the lemonade in an endeavor to win back his trade. If he doesn't succeed at this his outfit is for sale.

Lecturer Declares Brookhart Is Wrong

Challenge Is Issued to Iowa Senator To a Joint Debate On Russian Question—Will Lecture Here

Alexander Schwartz, formerly Colonel Demetrey Alexandrovitch Karpensky of Petrograd, and a former member of the old czarist army, challenged Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa to a debate on the soviet government of Russia. Schwartz will lecture at the Maryville chautauqua Thursday afternoon, August 9.

In his challenge to debate, which was issued at Des Moines Wednesday night, Schwartz declared that Senator Brookhart is delivering to America the message that the communists of Russia told him to deliver.

"When a man of the United States senatorship caliber arrives in Russia," Schwartz said, "he is immediately 'spotted.' He is not allowed to see or hear anything except that which Lenin or Trotksy would have him see or hear. Your Iowa Senator was their victim. The way he was taken in is a pity."

Schwartz declared that Soviet Russia, instead of having the second best government in the world, has worse than none at all.

Tom Fisher Seeks a State Office

Secretary of Democratic State Committee to Ask for Party Nomination

Thomas H. Fisher of Marshall, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, will be a candidate for the Democratic Nomination for Secretary of State, according to reports received here Thursday. Mr. Fisher is now residing at the Saline county seat. He has been secretary of the committee since 1920.

Mr. Fisher is a highly capable man, with a wide acquaintance among the Democrats of the state, with whom he is very popular. During his services as secretary, when headquarters were maintained in Jefferson City, Mr. Fisher conducted the referendum campaigns of the committee on the political bills of the Hyde administration, and also on the judicial and congressional gerrymanders. His organization work in this behalf had much to do with the extraordinary success of this movement. He was actively engaged continuously in keeping the democratic fires burning, at a time when the Republicans were confident, and made many friends, because of his untiring devotion to the party and his zeal in party work. He is well regarded by men of all factions and respected as a high-minded, upright citizen who would make an excellent Secretary of State.

His friends state that he will make an active campaign and predict his nomination by a handsome majority over any candidate who might file.—Missouri State Journal.
